

How to Register a New Camper for Quest Camp

Are you a parent who is looking for a fun, safe and therapeutic environment for your child over the summer break? Does Quest's system of integrating group therapy with fun physical activities and field trips to help campers properly socialize and assimilate with peers sound like a perfect fit? Then check us out! Here's a little help with how the process goes:

Visit the Quest website for more information about the program at <http://questcamps.com/>.

Reach out to the Quest Camp Director April Artz at aartz@jfcspgh.org or by phone at 412-877-7528.

Parents/caregivers can then register their child for camp on-line on the Quest website at <http://questcamps.com/>.

A Quest staff member will reach out to discuss the child to determine if the program is appropriate for them and vice versa.

We may ask to talk to other individuals such as the child's teacher, therapist, etc. to get a better sense of their needs.

We will schedule an hour long screening appointment to take place at April's office with the child and their caregiver. *There is a screening fee.
